POLICE CAPTURE STORROW HOTLY ACCUSES FITZGERALD OF RAISING THE RELIGIOUS ISSUE

Trapped in North End, Rogues' Gallery Man Draws Revolver; Battered Into Submission by Officer with Handcuffs
Companion Caught in Attempt to Flee; St. John, Only 24, Risked Death Rather Than Be Sent to Jail Again

EDWARD R. BELL, alias Storrow, 24, was captured, attempted to shoot at Patrolman George J. McCreary when the latter tried to arrest him in a North End second-hand store last evening. McCreary saved his life by striking Bell with the butt of his revolver. Bell tried the second time to shoot, but again received a staggering blow. Then he and a companion, William T. Hanson of Quincy, were subdued and arrested by the patrolman and two headquarters detectives. The police created great excitement in St. John's street, which was crowded when the battle was fought. Bell was carrying a clip down Hanover street, accompanied by Hanson, when they were seized by Police Inspectors Francis McCreary and William J. Bower. They followed the pair until they reached the store where McCreary of the Hanover street station. The inspectors told McCreary to watch the men.

Drew Two Revolvers.
Bell and Hanson went into a second-hand store and Bell produced from the shelf about $25 worth of wares, which he offered to sell. McCreary was right behind him and the inspectors were in the back ground, near the door. When Bell turned around and saw the patrolman, he drew two revolvers, one of which he pointed at McCreary, at the same time pointing the other at Hanson and yelling:

"McCreary, I have got my hands on the handle of the gun. Before Bell could fire, McCreary raised the butt of his rifle, and with all his force, struck Bell in the head. The latter reeled and his right arm dropped. He recovered quickly, however, and again raised his arm as if to fire. Again the inspector's rifle descended on his head and he staggered into the arms of the policeman, who immediately had his wrists encircled with the steel bands.

Struggles With Officer.
Meanwhile Hanson made a dash for the door, where he ran into the arms of Inspector Bower. After a short struggle, the inspector handcuffed him. A crowd collected as the officers dragged the two men into the street and hurried them to headquarters. Three Chief Inspectors, Francis McCreary, William J. Bower and George J. McCreary, were on duty at the time. The records showed that he is twenty-four years old and had served a term in Concord. "Did you intend to shoot the officer?" asked Bower. "Yes," said Bell. "I haven't but a little while to live and I wasn't going to die in jail if I could help it. I was just taking a chance at getting away. This kid was my buddy; he'd do it with me. I just happened to see him."

Goods Are Identified.
Patrolman from Quincy, who Arthur Barlett and a young woman clerk from the Century store of John W. Barlett & Co. of North Weymouth, later appeared at police headquarters and identified the stolen items from the store as belonging to their store when they were seized by Inspector McCreary. Hanson was then sent to St. John's, where the former was charged with breaking and entering, grand larceny and having firearms tools in his possession. Hanson was charged with breaking and entering and larceny. Hanson said he was twenty years old and lived in Liberty street, Quincy.

ZELAYA CONVICTED SELF IN CABLES TO HEARST

United States Broke Off Diplomatic Relations After Their Publication.
MESSAGES SHOW GUILT Admit Executed Americans Were Entitled to Civilized Treatment.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Diplomatic relations between the United States and Nicaragua were broken off as evidence furnished by William H. Hearst, President Zelaya, in an effort to justify the summary execution of the two Americans, Grove and Cannon, and two others, more fact admission that they would receive while in custody through the Hearst newspapers. In this Zelaya was not disappointed. But the two cablegrams constituting the Nicaraguan dispatches, proved so convincing, that they convinced him out of his own mouth. In the first cablegram to Mr. Hearst, Zelaya made a fact admission that both Grove and Cannon were regularly commissioned officers of the revolutionary army. This took them out of the pale of spies acting on their individual responsibility and placed them under summary execution under international law, and entitled them to the civilized treatment prescribed for prisoners of war. In the second cablegram Zelaya made the plea that the two Americans were engaged in civil war, and that they were therefore not entitled to the protection of international law. The answer of this government was that the same rules apply to civil wars as to international conflicts.

State Department Waiting.
The State Department tonight summed up the situation regarding Nicaragua by the statement that the government is waiting for diplomatic and administrative reasons. "It is a waiting game," it said. So confident is the department of the speedy downfall of Zelaya, that it does not expect to have serious negotiations with him. There has been no intention to send regular troops to Nicaragua.

The State Department explained that the cablegram introduced by this government and referred to in the Kuno note, were predicated upon the plea in position of an official naval force in the Nicaraguan waters. It is expected that the plan for the swift dispatch of the fleet with 700 marines to Panama have been delayed. A court of inquiry has been ordered to ascertain the causes of the accident, and the fleet has been ordered to take on the cargo of the Pacific and the marines, and sail for Cuba if the Pacific be not coasted tomorrow.

The impression is deepening that, owing to the grave losses involved in the Nicaragua affair, the President will have to send a special message to Congress detailing the reasons for the action already taken which are essentially, if not formally, acts of war. There is no question that opposition to President Taft will be at the present moment, and it is expected that the Senate will not pass the Nicaragua bill. The Senate is waiting for the State Department to send to Congress all the documents it has which will lead up to the present acute and dangerous situation.

Explanation is Due.
It is felt, here by the State Department, that it is due to foreign nations to explain what steps have been taken to safeguard foreign points and obligations in Nicaragua. Any new government in Nicaragua must subscribe to the will of the United States in the maintenance of the military officials in that republic until a stable government has been established. That is as far as the State Department officials are now willing to go, but it is enough to show that the United States will not allow the agreement with Mexico to keep the peace in Central America. It has been arranged that the first provisional government established in Nicaragua shall have the cooperation of the United States.

Secretary Knox this afternoon had a long informal conference with Dr. Salvador Carrillo, the representative in Washington of the provisional, or insurgent, government. While this act does not necessarily imply the formal recognition of the United States, it is a long way toward that, and its moral influence will be most upon the cause of the men who are struggling to overthrow Zelaya. Dr. Carrillo said that the State Department on direct suggestion of Secretary Knox. According to Dr. Carrillo a large number of men are in the mountains between the insurgent forces and the Zelaya troops and a decisive victory for the revolutionaries is expected. He said that the revolutionaries had taken the hands of the Zelaya forces and will be able to take them according to the Nicaraguan law.

HARLAN REBUKES 'CAR SEAT HOGS'

Supreme Court Justice Gets Law from Conductor, but Speaks His Mind.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan of the United States Supreme Court is a Kentuckian, and a militant one at that. He does not believe in man occupying seats in street cars while ladies are standing. He made the point clear to his way downtown today in a fourteenth street car that was crowded to the doors. The justice was standing in front of a seat where two flashy colored youths were seated. The car stopped and in came two gray-haired old men, who were seated in the seat of the youths. The youths, justice ordered them to get up and the car paused. He looked directly at the two colored men, significantly, but without result. They nonchalantly remained in their seats. Then the wrath of the justice boiled over. Emphasizing every point with his good-humored walking stick, he yelled in a loud voice, "You young men, get up! You are occupying seats while ladies are standing. Why do you not give these ladies your seats?" he exclaimed, continuing with the same. "Are you both so old that you must occupy seats while ladies stand?" Neither of the negroes answered a word or attempted to rise. "What you mean those fellows get up and give the ladies their seats!" yelled the justice. "Why, how," said the conductor, unaware that he was addressing one of the most eminent legal authorities in the United States, "That's against the law. The justice looked at him and said he had been coached in law by a street railway employee. The justice said he was not a lawyer, but that he was a justice of the peace and that he was not being rebuffed by a justice of the peace court.

STRIKE BREAKERS BUSY IN LUDLOW

Secret Move of Company Kills All Hope That Trouble May Be Arbitrated.

LUDLOW, Dec. 4.—Hordes of striking the great Ludlow strike were abandoned tonight, when 125 strike breakers were smuggled into town and taken secretly to the homes of the Ludlow Manufacturing Association. The strike breakers came from New York. They were guarded by private detectives. The striking breaking of the impasse of the strike breakers was not realized until they were safely inside the mills. There it was understood thoroughly that the company had selected all efforts at arbitration, was intending to go ahead with the brutal work of evicting the hundreds of strikers from their homes and purposes feeling the State authorities who have been trying to stop the crowd work at Ludlow.

The strike breakers arrived at the Ludlow plant in a single car at New York, New Haven & Hartford train. They were herded into the car like so many cattle. When they were taken from the train, the crowd gathered there up with long clubs and put them aboard several electric cars, which had been in waiting. They were hurried out to the mills, led and extra guards put on duty. There was no demonstration among the strikers. They were taken by surprise by this move of the Ludlow Manufacturing Association, as they had believed that the company would at least keep up the pretense of permitting the State Board of Arbitration to work unimpeded. Tonight 250 armed men were gathered at the Ludlow plant. Police officers, however, declared that the strikers were more peaceable than they were before the capture with the company.

Officers of the Ludlow Manufacturing Association preferred to fear that some strike breakers might attempt to commit a bomb attack on the Ludlow plant. They declared that the strikers were more peaceable than they were before the capture with the company. (For other news of the Ludlow strike see general news section.)

CULBERSON LAYS DOWN LEADERSHIP

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4.—Senator Calhoun has resigned the Democratic leadership of the Senate because of continued ill-health. The resignation will be submitted formally to the Democratic Senators at a meeting which it is expected will be held Monday. It is said that Senator Bailey of Texas will be elected as his successor.

Senator Culberson succeeded to the minority leadership in the Senate two years ago on the death of Senator German of Maryland. Senator Bailey was the caucus choice, but Bailey declined the position and urged the selection of Culberson. Bailey continued to be the active floor leader of the Democrats.

Mayor Dillard yesterday revealed the names of three moving picture theatres that would be termed "pernicious and dangerous" for violations of the rules and regulations established for the display of films.

Announcement of this kind is the theatre industry's first step in the Washington Metropolitan Police Department's fight against the so-called MPE, the Pastime Theatre, at the corner of Washington and Avery streets, near the intersection of the 14th and 15th streets of Kenilworth and Washington streets. The alleged violations consisted of repeated display of pictures depicting the rape of a woman, contrary to the ordinance.

Named in this category were the Leveaux, the Regent and the Lyric. The Lyric is located at 14th and B streets, near the recreation grounds. The Lyric is the only one of the three theatres which the mayor said he would not be closing.

REV. MR. CASSON ANSWERS PASTOR

The Rev. C. W. Casson, who for the last month has been preaching every Sunday evening in the Old South Church, today answered the "New Bostonian" article, this evening the subject, "Modern Revolutions in Religious Ideas," and will undertake to answer some of the criticisms that have been made upon him by ministers of this city.

Interviewed by a reporter for the Sunday American, Mr. Casson said: "It is strange, indeed, that in the year 1908, and in the city of Boston, there should be ministers who repudiate in such violent and ungentle terms, any suggestion of the freedom of thought in religion. I myself stated, as clearly as I could, the scientific principle in my application to the religious world, and I am surprised to find that they have so desired that liberty and progress have any place in religion. If they are representatives of the religious clergy, it is for wonder that more than half of the men of Boston do not go to church."

BOSTON & MAINE CHANGES PLANS

ROCHESTER, N. H., Dec. 4.—An announcement was made today that the New Haven railroad officials in charge of the Boston & Maine system had abandoned the idea of building a connecting line from the W. & A. P. Division at Lee, N. H., to Durham, N. H., on the Western Division. The expense of building such a line would be many thousands of dollars, and the time saved in the running of trains would be more than offset by the time lost in the running of the line.

MAXIM SILENCER THOUGHT FAULTY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The annual report of Brigadier-General William Crozier, chief of ordnance, U. S. A., says that the first experiments of the army with the Maxim silencer designed to do away with much of the noise resulting from the firing of a rifle, shows that it should not be adopted for use in the service in its present form because on damp, cloudy days the silencer escape of gas from the silencer might assist an enemy in locating the position of a firing line. The first annual report of the ordnance division for the year ending July 1, 1908, is published.

"PROFOUND CRUELTY METED OUT BY CORPORATION NOT JUSTIFIED BY ANY VIEW"

"Humanitarian Massachusetts Protects Its Criminals from Cold, Yet These Strangers Within Our Gates, Fighting for Rights, Face the Most Diabolical Conditions Possible."

EVEREND GEORGE W. KING, D. D., pastor of the People's Temple of Boston, visited Ludlow during the scenes of eviction last week at the request of the Sunday American. He made a thorough investigation of the awful conditions existing there. He talked through an interpreter with many of the evicted persons. He had a conference with Mr. Henderson of the Ludlow corporation, who was blamed for the harassing scenes caused by turning women, children and babies out of the homes into almost zero temperature.

STATEMENT BY REV. GEORGE W. KING, D. D., Pastor of the People's Temple, Boston

Sir: I have just returned from Ludlow, Massachusetts, where I have just witnessed the eviction of the mill strikers and their families. The conditions are truly appalling. The people are being driven out of their homes into the streets, where they are exposed to the cold and the elements. The corporation is guilty of profound cruelty, and the state is guilty of protecting the criminals from the cold. The people are fighting for their rights, and they are facing the most diabolical conditions possible.

Women's Ills

How many thousands of women in this land suffer needlessly? With their delicate nervous systems it is wonderful how they are able to endure as they do. Female disorders can rob them of strength and rob them of youth and beauty. It is an injustice, not only to yourself but to your husband, your children and your friends, to suffer in silence when health and strength are yours for the asking.

Dr. Greene's NERVURA will bring the dash of health to your cheek, set your blood tingling and bring joy into your life.

What Dr. Greene's NERVURA has done for others it will do for you.

Dr. Greene is the well-known public medical lecturer and specialist in the treatment of all nervous and chronic diseases, and can be consulted at his office, 347 New York Building, New York, or by mail.

SMART SET LEADERS AT FUNCTIONS IN AID OF CHARITY FOR HOLIDAYS

Opera and Debutantes Divide Time, and December Will Be the Busiest Month in the Calendar for Maids and Matrons
Who Are in Boston for Christmas Fetes.

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

PARADES and parties, dinners and dances, and the latest costume of the season, all are in evidence at the functions in aid of charity for the holidays. The smart set leaders at these functions are the opera and debutantes, who are in Boston for the Christmas fetes. The opera and debutantes divide the time, and December will be the busiest month in the calendar for maids and matrons who are in Boston for Christmas fetes. Who are in Boston for Christmas fetes.

Charity Reigning Spirit.

It is a winter is rarely distinctive for one thing—the great number of its charitable affairs. Perhaps in no other city in the world does charity as an object play so important a part in the giving of large social affairs, nor does any other city have so many organizations whose interest in charitable institutions is more sincere. Prominent among the philanthropies of fashion in the hub are the South End Day Society, for which the most successful bazaar was held Wednesday and Thursday at the Vendome, with Mrs. Lars Anderson, Mrs. Oliver Ames, Sr., Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. Mary Ames, Mrs. Charles P. Aldrich, Mrs. P. Leithman Ames, Mrs. J. Arthur Beebe, Mrs. John A. Burnham, Mrs. S. Parker Bremer, Mrs. C. C. Converse, Mrs. Ezra C. Fitch, Mrs. Harry E. Converse, Mrs. John C. Gray, Mrs. John M. Graham, Mrs. J. Livingston, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Houghton, Mrs. Elliot Hubbard, Mrs. C. P. Hemenway, Mrs. Oscar Isaacs, Mrs. David P. Kimball, Mrs. Albert L. Croft, Mrs. Richard J. Condit, Jr., Mrs. Alexander Cochran, Mrs. William J. Condit, Mrs. George P. Condit, Mrs. William J. Condit, Mrs. H. H. Fay, Mrs. Paul Howe Frothingham, Mrs. George Lyman, Mrs. Daniel Merriam, Mrs. Samuel Minter, Mrs. Robert Morse, Mrs. Guy Norman, Mrs. Alexander Porter, Jr., Mrs. Elizabeth W. Perkins, Mrs. Henry P. Quincy, Mrs. Alexander Stewart, Mrs. Moorfield Storey, Mrs. Ezra R. Thayer and Mrs. John E. Thayer as patronesses.

Notables as Patronesses.

The fair held Thursday and Friday at the Faneuil Hall was attended by the following: Mrs. John W. Aldrich, Mrs. Paul Howe Frothingham, Mrs. George Lyman, Mrs. Daniel Merriam, Mrs. Samuel Minter, Mrs. Robert Morse, Mrs. Guy Norman, Mrs. Alexander Porter, Jr., Mrs. Elizabeth W. Perkins, Mrs. Henry P. Quincy, Mrs. Alexander Stewart, Mrs. Moorfield Storey, Mrs. Ezra R. Thayer and Mrs. John E. Thayer as patronesses.

Quite the most important of all the bazaar for the society is concerned, however, will be that at Copley Hall to-morrow and Tuesday in aid of the Animal Rescue League.

But tired as the maids and matrons are with these bazaar, the innumerable debutante affairs, and the numerous dinners and dances, they are never weary of appearing at the social functions. The smart set leaders at these functions are the opera and debutantes, who are in Boston for the Christmas fetes.

Still More Gay Gowns

Each evening throughout the week the smart ones have appeared in the latest costume of the season. The smart set leaders at these functions are the opera and debutantes, who are in Boston for the Christmas fetes.

Christmas and Children

A PRETTY gloomy place, the world, when we look at it from the under side. The jollity of the Christmas season brings its misery out in sharper relief.

Here we see the shop windows bright with Christmas trees and tempting displays of toys; there we look at the barren tenement, with the ragged children huddled about a white-faced mother.

The big automobile, laden with gifts for a popular actress, whirls past the grim hospital where a hundred little sufferers lie wondering why they were born at all and doubtful if any real happiness is to be found anywhere.

For eleven months in the year most of us go about our own business, fighting our own battles, selfishly planning for our own future contentment.

Is it too much to ask that one month be devoted to "averaging up"—to sharing with those who have never had a chance, and to whom Christmas will probably mean only a deeper plunge into the gloom that has shrouded them since their birth?

In Alaska, long before the missionaries had spread religion, long before the stunted savages had heard of Christmas, there was a custom known as the potlatch.

From among the tribes the hunters would go forth, the lucky one returning in the course of three or four months laden with furs and spoils of dried meat and shining yellow pebbles.

Then the tribe would welcome him home, while the historian, lacking written language, would inscribe his achievements on a totem pole, which, carved with the likenesses of all the animals he had killed, would be raised in front of his lodge.

And when the pole was in place the successful hunter would give his potlatch.

To his tent he would invite all his friends and foes, all the members of the tribe, proud and low, rich and poor.

Then, dividing all the spoils of the chase into as many portions as he had guests, he would bid each carry forth his portion.

The night after the potlatch the hunter would be as poor as before, but there would be happiness and rejoicing in all the other lodges and abounding good will to speed him on his next journey to the hunting grounds.

The potlatch was a striking example of the Christmas spirit—an exaggerated example, for at this season no man need impoverish himself to make his fellows happy.

In this day and in this country there is more than enough to go around. If every man who has more than he needs will give a little to some one who has nothing, this coming Christmas will be the most wonderful that the world has ever known.

Until we shall succeed in abolishing poverty—and that time is still some thousands of years away—there will always be need of the Christmas spirit.

The birthright of every child is happiness. Upon its memories of childhood will depend its future, and the future of the nation, as everybody knows, depends upon the future of the children.

Some day the Christmas spirit will last all the year round. But until that day is here we should make the most of it in the weeks that precede the Christmas celebration.

It is easy enough to make happiness contagious. Walk through a hospital ward, where in pathetic rows of white cots tiny patients are stretched. Smile at any one of them and there will be an answering smile to thank you. Lay on any of those cots a toy or a flower or a pretty picture, and see how the little faces are brightened and how gratitude leaps into the listless and tired eyes.

Go into a tenement, where a mother is dreading the dawn of Christmas, knowing that there will be nothing to give the day meaning to her children, and leave some trifling present for each of the babies that are sitting pale and silent on the dirty floor.

In an instant the place will be in a joyous uproar, and you will leave with an exaggerated idea of your importance and generosity that will be worth more than the costliest gift that could be bestowed upon you.

Unless you lead a singularly desolate and wolfish life you have abundant opportunities for spreading the joy of Christmas right at your door.

The boy that blacks your shoes—earning perhaps fifty cent a day and returning half of that to the padrone who employs him—don't you think that he would be glad to get a pair of mittens to keep his hands warm, or a really wholesome meal at some restaurant he has never dared to enter?

The family around the corner—no father, a mother taking in washing, the children with ragged shoes and ragged clothing—it would cost perhaps five dollars to give that family the happiest day of its career.

The five dollars might buy you a silk umbrella, or a pool ticket on a horse that will probably lose.

Would it be better to spend it in making yourself a little more satisfied or in bringing heaven down to that family?

The delight of all childhood is surprise. It is the mystery surrounding Christmas, as we celebrate its maternal side, that gives it its magic charm to all children.

The unexpected happiness that you can bring into the lives of the unfortunate by a little judicious expenditure is worth far more than any gift that luckier children look forward to as their natural right.

And then there is the pleasure of giving.

Until you can feel that you have brought gladness and cheerfulness to a home where but for you it never could have come, you will have never really enjoyed the Christmas season.

In one of the large Western cities lives a man who, finding a tattered urchin on the street one Christmas morning, took him to a hotel, gave him a good, wholesome breakfast and then presented him with an order for a whole outfit of warm clothing.

The satisfaction that man got out of his experiment made giving a habit—almost a vice—with him.

To-day every child in the hospital in the city hails him as a benefactor, and the joy of Christmas endures with him all the year round.

A Season When Happiness Ought to Be Made More Contagious Than Trouble—When Every Child Ought to Feel That Life Is Beautiful, and That It Has the Good Will of All Men and Women.

In this country, as we said at the beginning, there is far more than enough to go around. Even the crippled child, who may never hope to be anything but a cripple, can be given a taste of happiness that will be a pleasure throughout his life, purposeless life. It is easier to find an opportunity for spreading the enjoyment of Christmas, it is easier to give, and it brings a return of happiness out of all proportion to the deserts of the giver.

Five years ago the public did not understand the seriousness and deep significance of the Whiskey question. Today, through the thousands of dollars expended by this concern, they understand that Whiskey is pure and unadulterated ONLY when it is marked "Straight." If it is marked "Blend" or "Compound" it is not "Straight Whiskey," and you take big chances in using it. We point with pride to the fact that we were the pioneers in advocating "Straight Whiskey." We quote you Special prices for your Christmas Liquors. Buy early and avoid the uncertainty of vexatious delays.

No matter where you buy your Liquors, you will do well to send for Hagerty's Talks on

"Whiskey From a Pure Food Standpoint."

It will help you to get your money's worth.

Mailed Free Upon Request.

ANCIENT STONE TABLET, FOUND IN THE DESERT, 1890.

THE world was astonished a few years ago by the discovery of the Code of Hammurabi, the Babylonian king who had lived about an extraordinary 2,500 years before the Ten Commandments and Jewish Law were given to Moses on Mount Sinai. But recently it was found, too, that 1,500 years before Moses.

Now a still older code of laws has been discovered, which is an equally close parallel to the Code of Hammurabi and the Law of Moses. It is the Code of King Gudea of Lagash, a Sumerian king of the city of Lagash, in the Sumerian region of Assyria, who lived about 2500 B. C. or 300 years before Hammurabi and 1,500 years before Moses.

The discovery of this code, which is the Code of Gudea, has been a great help to the study of the Bible, and it is a monument to the fact that the laws were delivered to Moses on Mount Sinai.

Moses on Mount Sinai. The Code of Hammurabi has been found by the discovery of the famous Assyrian tablets, and excavated in a series of two large terra-cotta cylinders, which are found in the ancient city of Susa, and which are now in the Louvre.

The oldest decorations on this page represent some of the ancient laws, which are the exact parallels of the ancient laws. The monument, or stone, on which the king of Lagash in the act of giving the laws to Gudea is also shown.

In the inscription found on the tablet, the king of Lagash is said to have been the first to appear and to be the first to appear.

In the story that the temple was founded by the king of Lagash, the king of Lagash was the first to appear and to be the first to appear.

Mme. Stemmel, the accused murderess, to whose relief
Mr. Lefebvre flew.

The development of research in the field of the Harman are understood by psychology and explained by the fact that law mind was possessed by the one dominating controlling factor to the over-objects.

Mr. Rockefeller's pre-eminent genius is indicated by his dominating idea of accumulating money.

"Why, then, should this young man Lefebvre—who apparently had no connection or acquaintance with any one concerned with the trial of the case in court, insist upon interrupting the proceedings to accuse him publicly and demand that he be punished?"

The dramatic version of the Steinheil murder, as enacted at the Montparnasse Theatre, which impressed young Lefebvre.

BUT THE ROYAL PRINCESSES ALL RAN AWAY!

Rather Disconcerting Reception of Manuel, the Boy King of Portugal, Who Came to England to Pick Out a Wife—and Every One of the Eligible Princesses Begged to Be Excused.

King Manuel in His Regal Robes.

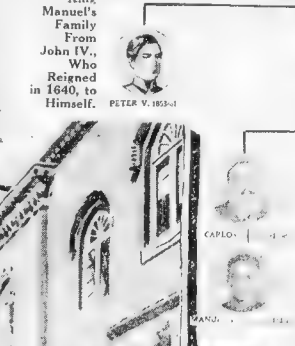

When Manuel, the young prince of Portugal, arrived in England, he was met by a rather disconcerting reception. The royal princesses, who were expected to be his potential wives, all begged to be excused. The king, who was only a boy, was left with no choice but to look for a wife elsewhere. The story of his journey and the challenges he faced in finding a suitable bride is a tale of royal intrigue and personal struggle.

Dr. Mintermoun shows very clearly that the claims prominently made that Khazars, the "Jews of the Caucasus," and "Mishas are the real fathers of Capernaum are incorrect."

While the Saviour was living at Capernaum, He performed the miracle of feeding the multitudes. The "Mishas" who are the fathers of the people of this nation is now identified on the evidence of this hill immediately to the east of the Temple of the Lord as the place where the Saviour performed this miracle for a general gathering.

At St. Stephen's sermon the Jews were provoked to the point of stoning him, and as appears in the text, the "chief of the delegation" to punish the compactor in who came of the Hellenists, was a man of influence in the church. From the time that the Hellenists placed in the early church had clung to the holy day observance, the high places and local rival, St. Stephen, a high man who built in the temple, and was the ruler of the church, was persecuted and stoned to death. The text of the book, Acts 13: 1-5, is a record of the early church's growth and the first Christian martyr's letter.

handed they, after this kind address, came in the highway, two a group, and proceeded to Damascus, the chief city of Syria, and one of the most ancient and famous places in the world. On the road thither we read in the Acts that Paul was smitten by a sudden light from heaven, so that he fell to the ground blinded, while he heard the voice Jesus, saying:

whole succession of Christian pilgrims associate this multiplication of the five loaves and the two fishes with the Seven Springs or Hopiaspegon, from which latter word the name Tabighnah is derived.

And in this vicinity, also, is the Mount of the Beatitudes, the hill from which the Saviour preached the Sermon on the Mount. The pilgrim Knappington writes: "The Mount of the Beatitudes is the 'Dovecote' of that mountain, where our Lord preached to the throngs, who were gathered from Capernaum: one mile from there I find the place where Jesus had his usual residence. It is a hill, and is called 'The Dovecote' because of the many doves which were kept there."

Morton R. Edwin PANATELAS

per hundred instead of

THIS is by all standards of comparison a 10c cigar. It will satisfy the most cranky smoker of imported brands. It is fully 5 1/2 inches long, strictly hand-made, of choicest Havana tobacco—genuine Sumatra wrapper. It smokes freely and evenly—never charrs down the side, but keeps burning coolly and fragrantly to the last toothhold. The reason this cigar is sold at $2.40 instead of $5.00 per hundred is because I buy and sell for cash. I ask no credit, neither do I give it. I personally buy my tobacco direct from the grower in Cuba, and pay him at least five weeks before the tobacco reaches the U. S. Custom House. I buy for less and sell for less. The man who buys and sells on credit cannot compete with me.

Among my 35 different brands I have an "in between" smoke called "Old Fashioned Havana Smokers." I want you to be on smoking terms with them, because they are just the thing you want when you don't want a big cigar. They are Havana filled—4 in. long—blunt at both ends—made the way the Cuban planter rolls tobacco for his own use—without a binder.

I'm so eager to "Get Acquainted" that I'll send you a box of O. F. H. Smokers and a full size box of a new kind of Havana Smoking Tobacco free with an order for my Panateles.

Send me $2.40 and the coupon below for 100 Morton R. Edwin Panateles. Smoke as many as you like—smoke them all if you want to, and if you then tell me that you didn't receive more than you expected, I'll return your money and we'll remain friends. If you want to know who I am and whether or not I run my business on the square, if you have any doubts as to my making good, if my cigars don't, just inquire from any bank or commercial agency about me. If you don't call the report you get, keep your cash at home.
